

Kimberly Gainey

Staff Attorney

Kimberly A. Gainey's practice focuses on complex civil litigation and criminal defense.

She has represented a variety of different clients, including patients and health care providers in disputes with insurance companies, and individual and corporate defendants in both criminal and civil proceedings.

Kimberly and other Zuckerman Spaeder lawyers:

- Obtained dismissal of civil securities fraud claims against the former chief financial officer of Fannie Mae. After more the eight years of investigations and litigation, the court's finding of "overwhelming evidence" of our client's good faith was, in our client's words, "a complete vindication."
- Obtained an acquittal of all felony charges against the former chief executive officer of an energy company following a highly publicized and emotional trial.

More recently, Kimberly manages teams of reviewers on long-term and short-term document reviews, supporting the representation of class members suing insurance companies for unduly restrictive coverage guidelines and improperly charging administrative fees disguised as medical expenses.

Bar admissions

- District of Columbia
- Virginia

Washington, DC

202.478.8783
202.822.8106 - Fax
kgainey@zuckerman.com

Practice focus

- E-Discovery
- White Collar Defense
- Health Care
- Plaintiffs and Class Actions
- Securities and Commodities Litigation

Education

- Certified E-Discovery Specialist (CEDS), 2019
- William & Mary Law School, J.D., 2006
 - Articles Editor, William & Mary Journal of Women and the Law
- California State University, Long Beach, B.A., 2002

